LOCOMOTIVE BLASTS.

Conductor Albini, who has for years past had charge of a passenger train on the Henderson and St. Louis division, after a brief illness, departed this life last Monday. There were few conductors more popular than he was. Always agreeable and sociable with the passengers in his charge, and he will long be remembered by the traveling public.

The railroad company has been making extensive repairs on their side tracks this season at many points. An extra crew has been kept busy at this work.

Chas. Kennedy, who has been one of the faithful switchmen in the Earlington yard for the last few months, has resigned his position and as the boys say will pull the bell cord over a mile's back, on an Ohio farm this year.

Assistant dispatcher Savage is now taking a much deserved and much needed week's rest.

The big fire at Madisonville last Tuesday night caused considerable excitement among the railroad officials here, and who at once sent a switch engine and crew over there.

NFO NOTES.

Navy and interesting letter from Our Nbo Correspondent.

Farmers are busy sowing oats and repairing fences.

Great damage has been done to the wheat crop, many fields being entirely ruined by the late freeze.

We had a peculiar fire in Nbo Monday, in which the contents of the house were entirely consumed and the building entirely uninjured. The whole affair looks just a little mysterious.

Some thief broke into the store of Mitchell & Vasey at Manitou Sunday night, but took nothing of any moment. Sunday morning two new umbrellas were found at the gate of Mr. Dight's, supposed to have been left there by the thief.

Some time ago Tony Bradley's store at Nbo was broken upon but nothing of any value was missed. The only wonder is that there is not more taken.

Mr. H. R. Cox, who has been absent for several days, returned Saturday and is now receiving his spring stock of goods.

Mr. D. C. Morrow, of the firm of Eudais & Morrow, is now in Cincinnati buying goods for the Nbo market. "Dave" is an experienced merchant and knows the demands of his trade. He is the only merchant in Nbo that advertises in The Bee.

We have always found that a man who advertises liberally is sure to be a liberal man to deal with.

The firm of Jenkins & Sights, who have been in the grocery business for some time past, has been dissolved. Mr. Jenkins retiring.

Rev. McLean filled his regular appointment Saturday and Sunday at the C. P. church.

Will Langley, of Providence, Ky., visited his "papa" Saturday night.

Ern Hill, of Manitou, attended church at Nbo Sunday.

J. H. Clinton and Son, of Providence, passed through Nbo en route to Madisonville, Tuesday.

Cleora Whitlightall was in Nbo Tuesday.

Aunt Alley Morrow is quite sick. A great many of our people are having their gardens planted, according to the principle that the "early bird catches the worm."

Ruby Lafoon spent Friday night in Nbo. Ruby has a great many friends in this vicinity.

Zack Chalk was here Tuesday mingling with his friends. Zack was raised in this neighborhood and has a host of friends here and no enemies.

The Red Hill correspondent thinks he can best us on dogs and widowers and tells of one man owning twenty-seven of the former. We are so ignorant that we do not know where Red Hill is located, nor the population of the city, but nothing short of an actual count will ever convince us that they have more dogs than Nbo. We undertook the task of counting the dogs on one street in this place. The first man we met said he did not have as many as usual—he had reduced the number until he had only ten. Taking this as a basis, we made a close calculation and put the figures at nine hundred and ninety-nine. Now if any one doubts our statement we invite them to come and we will render them every assistance in our power in counting them.

A certain young lady in our town wants to know more about those widowers. She says she has despaired of getting one, while yet young, and has decided to take a "staid-over man" rather than none. Our town is improving; many new buildings will be built here during the summer.

to look after the company's interest at that point, and also to lend what aid they could to subdue flames.

After an illness of several months the wife of Superintendent Logsdon, departed this life one day last week. We understand her health had been very poor for years past, and it was hoped a change of climate would be beneficial to her when she moved to Evansville, but climate or medicine is of no avail when the Divine Father issues the final summons. Friends of the bereaved husband extended their sympathy to him in this his hour of affliction.

Operator Fawcett and family are spending this week with friends in East St. Louis.

Operator Cravens is again back at work here, now working in day time, while Mr. Fawcett is away.

The meeting of the Henderson city council which was to have been held a week ago to take final action on the proposed railroad improvements at that place, was postponed until this week when it is thought favorable action will be taken.

Our great need is a good mill. We do not think a better point could be found for a good mill, as we are in the midst of the best farming district of Hopkins County. Shipping facilities are all that could be desired, fuel is cheap and convenient and we are thoroughly convinced that money invested in a good mill at this place would yield a handsome return.

We wish to thank our postmaster for favors shown us and to assure him that they are highly appreciated by Retirees.

One would suppose that the U. M. W. have arranged a new calendar which varies greatly from our present calendar, to-wit: Two of their weeks equal two of our months, for they said these mines should run but two weeks longer about two months ago.

Uncle Remus told the children that the rabbit killed the tree when the dogs were after it; the children said: "Now Uncle Remus we've got you now, we've got you, for rabbits don't climb trees." Uncle Remus answered, "That rabbit was bleecher er cinnin' dat tree." The answer of the U. M. W. when asked why they did not stop St. Bernard works was like unto Uncle Remus, "We was bleecher let em run, jist bleecher 'er."

The words hafter and bleecher are used synonymously in U. M. W.'s lexicon. When they are intimidated as men who are engaged in honest labor they say, "hafter," and as well stop for they'll "hafter." But when they find that they cannot succeed in stopping them they say "We are bleecher let them run."

Rheumatism.

Nobody knows all about it and nothing, now known, will always cure it.

Doctors try Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil, when they think it is caused by imperfect digestion of food.

You can do the same.

It may or may not be caused by the failure of stomach and bowels to do their work. If it is, you will cure it; if not, you will do no harm.

The way, to cure a disease is to stop its cause, and help the body get back to its habit of health.

When Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil does that, it cures; when it doesn't, it don't cure. It never does harm.

The genuine has this picture on it, take no other. If you have not tried it, send for free sample, its agreeable taste will surprise you.

DOWN IN THE MINES.

The record made by the U. M. W. since they first established headquarters in this county is certainly not one that would cause envy to arise in the breast of a good citizen and at this time a brief history will not be amiss. First they came like a wolf in sheep's clothing pretending to be sincere in the great love they expressed for what they called the poor, down-trodden miners of this Hopkins county and with false promises of better wages upon their lips a few discontented miners believed their tale and joined them. Next we find them using liquor to befuddle the minds of those they caught as followers. This worked to a certain extent upon a few who cared not whether they worked or played so long as they got whiskey and quarter-rations were in sight. But still those mine workers were not satisfied as the mines of the county continued to run with increased forces. They concluded that something more forcible must be done and so they gathered in the southern part of the county with the intention of forcing the miners of that region to stop work. They were met there by the sheriff's posse who, acting in accordance with a proclamation declaring it unlawful for large crowds of men to march, ordered them to disperse. This they flatly refused to do and showed the evil intention in their hearts by openly firing upon the deputy sheriff with murderous intent. Then it was that they received their first serious setback, as two of their men being the aggressors received fatal shots from weapons in the hands of officers acting in defense of their lives. After this severe lesson their acts of outlawry did not cease, and in defiance of the law prohibiting such acts, and to the annoyance and disturbing of our citizens, regardless of sex, they persisted in carrying openly upon their persons revolvers so exposed as to frighten the timid. But the law is founded upon justice to all men and for the protection of all the people, so they were called to appear before the courts to answer on a charge of breach of peace and it is safe to say that an organization never met by their own confession and through their own attorney a more crushing defeat. If reports are reliable they are now more further in their efforts to carry out their plan of forcing the county to carry out the plans mapped out for them by his satanic majesty, whose obedient servants they appear to be, and have attempted to take the life of the innocent while enjoying their slumbers at the dead of night by the use of deadly explosives. Miners read their record and shun them as they would a viper. What will be the next chapter in crime?

While it is true that "whatsoever a man sows that shall he also reap," yet it is nevertheless a fact that a sometimes when justice is meted out our sympathies are aroused and we are inclined to think the punishment too severe although we laid ourselves liable. Take as an illustration the sad experience of a farmer who lives near Empire and who allowed the smooth, oily tongues of the U. M. W. to beguile him into becoming a member of the organization. But we must admit that we do not blame him much for the average farmer of that region is idle six months out of the year and every dollar's worth of provisions they could get out of the county placed him in a bad mood, and he never did nor never will work in the mines he pledged never to take the place of a striking miner. Under these conditions he continued to draw his small rations along with the threat of the leaders until a short time ago when the last straw broke the camel's back, and that was when he asked the "haudouters" for some seed oats for spring sowing. The request was flatly refused and since that time he and the agitators don't speak as they pass by.

The St. Bernard Coal Co. is daily besieged by those who want employment. Some of them are those who have joined the U. M. W. and after a short experience on starvation rations came back for employment among the happy, contented miners who are employed by that company.

Mr. Bailey was summoned 8-uth last Friday by a tele message that his son who had been in Florida for sometime for his health was very low with no hope of recovery. He expired before his father could reach there. It was indeed a sad death and the bereaved family has the sympathy of a host of friends in their hour of sorrow.

The general cry among the coal operators of this county last week was a scarcity of coal cars. Such an occurrence proves a great loss to the miners and operators alike for they are more eager to work now than ever as they like to deliver knock-out blows to the agitators by working every day if possible.

The rumor was afloat last week that one car of coal marked "union mined" was shipped from Hopkins county, when the truth is the car was loaded at Providence, Webster county, by a few miners who have control of a small mine at that place. As the strike has been on at that place for months past and this is the only car we have heard of being shipped we see nothing to boast of. Are not the union miners down there "scabbing" on the agitators of this county who are opposed to shipping coal until the union is recognized? Or do they intend to glut the market?

Secretary Anderson, of Monarch, says his company sustained quite a loss last week caused by a shaft rope breaking and letting a loaded car and cage drop to the bottom of the shaft, causing quite a loss of time and considerable expense.

Four new houses are being rapidly pushed to completion at Barnsley. New families constantly moving in keep the St. Bernard carpenter busy supplying the demand for houses.

All past records were smashed by the miners of Barnsley last Friday when eighteen cars of coal were loaded. That is the place where the union fever broke out violently at one time, but under the care of able physicians it has subsided to such an extent that few traces of it can now be found.

Often in these columns have we referred to the lamentable fact that much of the success attending the efforts of the U. M. W. to organize this county was due to intimidation and the cause of his downfall was brought to our attention last week. A bright young man, well known for his industrious habits, came to the St. Bernard Coal Co., asking to be taken back to work, claiming that the cause of his downfall was intoxicating drinks given him by an enemy in the disguise of a U. M. W.

Ellsworth Evans was off a few days last week having bruised his foot in the mines.

A few years ago the headquarters of the Knights of Labor were located in Pennsylvania not far from where the big strike is expected to originate. At that time the order was on a boom, in fact threatened to throttle all the industries of the county unless their demand was granted but the organization soon struck a rock and the members went to pieces. As the U. M. W. is pursuing the same tactics there may be breakers ahead in that State for them. And here are those who think the end is near.

When one Farlie, from Alabama, appeared in the convention of the U. M. W. and the operators they were at Louisville the other day, he stated that he could prove that the production of coal in Hopkins County had been reduced sixty-five per cent; that the cars were all counted by capable men, who respected the truth only. He was supported by a telegram from Mine Inspector Stone, which reported a gain of over 18,000 tons in Hopkins County for the month of January over the corresponding month of last year. As the St. Bernard Company produced over 7000 tons more coal in Feb. 1901 than in 1900 and other mines also increased their output, Farlie's "reliable" romances evidently didn't see any double headers pulling coal trains.

Richard Brown, General Secretary of the United Workers, disappears with $12 of the Union's Good Coin.

The members of Evansville branch No. 300, of the United Mine Workers, would like to find Richard Brown, the secretary of the organization, and they are making every effort to locate him, who has disappeared from this city several days ago, taking the union's money with him and that is why the miners are so interested in him.

One member, who was a colored man, was elected financial secretary of the union several months ago. By virtue of his position he had charge of the monthly remittances to the National organization but it appears that he neglected to remit $12 of the money collected from the Evansville members.

Brown is married but left his wife in this city. She claims to know nothing of his whereabouts.

The members of the union are considerably agitated on account of the defection and are wondering whether they will have to pay their National dues again. It is thought they will be held responsible for the shortage.—Evansville News, March 18, 1901.

A Noted Boston Woman Describes its Symptoms and Terrors.—Two Severe Cases Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"I am so nervous! I no ever suffered as I do! There isn't a well inch in my body. I honestly believe my lungs are diseased, my chest pains me so, but I have no cough. I am so weak at my stomach, and have indigestion terribly, and palpitation of the heart; am losing flesh; and this headache and backache nearly kills me, and yesterday I had hysterics. "There is a weight in the lower part of my bowels, bearing down all the time, with pains in my groins and thighs—I can't sleep, walk, or sit, and blue—oh goodness! I am simply the most miserable of women."

This is a most vivid description of a woman suffering with nervous prostration, caused by inflammation or some other diseased condition of the womb.

No woman should allow herself to reach such a perfection of misery when there is no need of it. Read about Miss Williamson's case and how she was cured.

LATE NEWS FROM AFRICA.

Lord Kitchener Studiously Silent on the Progress of the Peace Negotiations.

GEN. DE WET HAS ARRIVED AT SENEKAL.

Gen. French Has Been Adding to His Captures of Prisoners, Arms, Ammunition, Live Stock and Transport. Senekal Has Been Doing Likewise.

London, March 16.—A dispatch from Lord Kitchener issued Friday morning, is so studiously silent upon the subject of the peace negotiations that it tends to the conclusion that nothing has yet been accomplished of sufficiently definite character to justify leading official support to the view that the war is over. Nor do Gen. French's movements indicate a cessation of hostilities, although possibly, as no date is given, his captures were made previous to the granting of an armistice.

Lord Kitchener's dispatch, which is dated at Pretoria, Thursday evening, reports as follows:

"The wet has reached Senekal on his northward progress.

"French, in addition to his previous successes, reports 46 Boers killed or wounded, 15 taken prisoners and recovered, with 300 rifles, 3,700 rounds of ammunition, 2,500 horses, 5,000 cattle and 400 wagons and carts, besides mules and trek oxen."

"Methuen has arrived at Warrenton from Klerksdorp, bringing in prisoners and cattle."

"The weather is wet, delaying the movements of the columns."

A dispatch from Pretoria, after noting Gen. De Wet's arrival at Senekal, General Buller adds that although he has only a small following, De Wet is availing a district where he is likely to receive considerable reinforcements, and probably intends to pick up roving bands of republicans who are ever present in the Dornberg and Keraanberg districts.

Gen. French, the dispatch adds, has been defeated by swollen drifts in the Pietretiet district, but is now able to move again.

A dispatch from Cape Town reports that Scheepers' and Milner's commands have turned southward, and are now within 40 miles of Willowmore, and that the British are following them.

DE WET'S MENTAL CONDITION.

Believed by Those Who Have Seen Him to be a Madman.

Bloemfontein, Orange River colony, March 16.—Prisoners who have lately been released by Gen. De Wet say they think he is a madman. They aver that the terrible fatigues he has undergone, his anxieties and the intensity of his feelings, have unhinged his mind. Apart from this view of Gen. De Wet's mental state, some of his peculiarities are that he rarely seeks rest outside of a few trusted followers. Thus, the orderlies of his subordinate commanders are frequently unable to find him to receive orders. His secretary is extremely. He absolutely impris his plans to no one.

Gen. De Wet repudiates the peace negotiations which are going on. He declares openly to the men under his command that no terms except independence will satisfy him.

A recent utterance, attributed to Gen. De Wet is that after the British he hated the Transvaalers.

The whereabouts of Gen. De Wet during the last two or three days is unknown, nor is it known whether President Steyn is with him.

Buffalo, N. Y., March 17.—The officials of the national saengerfest which is to be held in this city this year announce that the Central Passenger association, controlling a portion of the territory east of the Mississippi river, had agreed to make the fare during the week of the festival, June 23 to July 2, inclusive, one-half of the regular fare. The officials confidently expect the other passenger associations to adopt the same rate and anticipate that it will bring 35,000 more visitors than the city has ever had and a third previously announced.

CARNEGIE'S BENEFACTIONS.

Five Million Two Hundred Thousand Dollars for Public Libraries in New York City.

New York, March 16.—Andrew Carnegie, who, since retiring as an active figure from the steel world, has been able to devote his time exclusively to his other passion, the founding of libraries, has made his departure for Europe this spring memorable by the largest offer of that kind ever advanced. If New York City will provide sites and the maintenance, he has promised to give $5,200,000 to establish 63 branch libraries in this city.

This offer was made in a letter to John H. Billings, director of the New York public library, last Tuesday.

A MILLION FOR ST. LOUIS.

Mr. Carnegie offers the World's Fair City a Million Dollars on Easy Conditions.

St. Louis, March 16.—Andrew Carnegie, has added to his public benefactions by offering to donate $1,000,000 for the building of a new public library in St. Louis. The offer is similar to many others which Mr. Carnegie has made to cities throughout the United States and abroad.

The conditions on which the gift is to be made can be easily complied with by the city of St. Louis. Mr. Carnegie asks that the city furnish unimproved sites for the buildings and that a maintenance fund of $125,000 per year be assured.

His desire is that the $1,000,000 be divided into two parts—$500,000 to be used for the central building, and $500,000 for establishing a system of branch libraries, which shall be located in various sections of the city, thus allowing every district to benefit equally by the gift.

THE FINEST IN THE WORLD.

Andrew Carnegie Proposes Giving Pittsburgh the Finest Technical School in Existence.

Pittsburgh, Pa., March 16.—The Dispatch says:

"Intimate friends of Andrew Carnegie say that it is his intention of the steel master to give at least $250,000, 50 for the erection of buildings, and for the equipment of the proposed technical school of Pittsburgh. It is also declared by those who have talked with Mr. Carnegie that he intends to make his school the finest of its kind in the world and that it will stand as much fame to Pittsburgh on the theoretical side of iron and steel making as his famous works have done in actual practice."

PEACE TERMS REJECTED.

Gen. Botha Notifies Gen. Kitchener in Writing of His Rejection of the British Terms.

BRITISH HOUSE OF COMMONS NOTIFIED.

The Boer Commandant General announced that he was not disposed to recommend the Terms Proposed to His Government, and its Chief Officers Agreed with Him.

London, March 17, 4:07 p. m.—Mr. Joseph Chamberlain, the colonial secretary, has informed the house of commons that Gen. Botha has rejected the peace terms offered him.

Gen. Botha, Mr. Chamberlain said, had covered the information in a letter to Gen. Kitchener, in which he announced that he was not disposed to recommend the terms of peace Gen. Kitchener was instructed to offer him to the earnest consideration of his government. Gen. Botha added that his government and its chief officers entirely agreed with his view. Mr. Chamberlain added:

"I propose to lay the papers connected with the negotiation on the table to-night."

LET THE WAR BE PROPOSED.

Englishmen Pleased at the Outcome of Kitchener's Overtures.

London, March 16.—The issuance of parliamentary papers on the negotiations between Lord Kitchener and Gen. Botha is delayed. Gen. Botha's refusal to accept the peace terms offered him is commented upon with an evident sense of relief. The idea that Lord Kitchener initiated the negotiations instead of Gen. Botha, as has been supposed, is unpalatable to the British press.

"The Daily Mail, under the editorial caption 'Our Rejected Staff' asks why the government instructed Lord Kitchener to sue for peace after the murder of the peace envoy and concludes as follows:

"Let the war be pressed to the utmost, and let further reinforcements be prepared, for they may be needed; but above all, let us have no more negotiations."

AN IMPORTANT CAPTURE.

WARNING TO THE PUBLIC.

More Care Necessary in Preparing, Printing Articles for Transmission in the Mails.

Washington, March 20.—In response to numerous complaints of damages to fragile articles sent through the mails, the post office department has issued a general order warning the public to use more care in preparing articles to stand rough handling. Postmasters are also directed to carry parcels mailing securely and to place labels that the packages are very liable to damage in transit.

Indiana Towns Harmed.

"The Fast Mail"

A production of unusual magnitude will be given at Morton's Theatre, Madisonville, Thursday March 28, Lincoln J. Carter's superb melodrama, "The Fast Mail," as its name indicates, it deals largely with the railroad in its incidents, but it presents an abundance of effects that are daring in their magnitude and admirable in their execution. The steamboat is said to be a wonder of clever conception and masterly mechanical work and the railroad scene, with its trains going at a terrific rate of speed, makes the stage seem like a piece of reality. The Niagara Falls scene is wonderfully beautiful, and it may safely be said is more elaborate than anything of the kind ever before attempted in this city. There are a multitude of minor effects that contribute to make the performance a revelation of realism. The whistles, bells and splashing are heard as the boat leaves the wharf. The sounds that tell us of an approaching train herald the approach of the freight and fast mail train—the latter rushing by with people gazing from the window at the heroine who has just saved her lover's life by fastening a letter to the mail pouch. The roaring of Niagara Falls is heard, and the mist that rises from it is shown vividly. The play is startling at times in the intensity of its climaxes, and these when presented with all the effects of the intricate stage settings bring the interest to a degree that is rarely attained even in the melodrama. A large number of people are employed in the production, which is in many particulars plainly the result of care and skill combined.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

COUNTY CLERK.

CLILAND—We are authorized to announce John R. Cliland, of this city, as a candidate for County Clerk, subject to the action of the Republican party.

MR. C. H. MURPHY makes announcement in THE BEE this week of his candidacy for clerk of the county, court subject to the action of the voters of Hopkins County at the November election, 1901. Mr. Murphy is thoroughly well qualified for the position he seeks and is a man of high moral character and irreproachable integrity. He possesses no little popularity, has many friends throughout the county and has considerable following in the race even now.

The Kentucky Press Association will hold its annual meeting at Madisonville during the first week in July. Madisonville has had a fire, but there is enough of a hospitable little city left to care for two State Press Associations if they offered. Earlinton is near and neighborly and will lend a hearty hand to help carry for the boys of the press if necessary. From Madisonville the Association will proceed via St. Louis to Colorado for the annual outing. The Literary program to be given at Madisonville promises to be the best on record and the banquet planned is to be the most delightful ever taken.

Dangerous Roof or "Top" in Coal Mining.

Even a cursory examination of almost any mine inspection report cannot fail to impress one with the large number of accidents occurring from fall of roof and coal. Of this class of accidents fully 90 per cent occur in close proximity to the working face. This is the portion of the mine that is more particularly under the charge of the miner and for which he is responsible in a large measure. It is true that it is the duty of the mine foreman or pit boss to see that each working place is maintained in a safe condition, but with the supply of needed timber and a few hurried instructions to the miner the responsibility of the mine foreman ends and the work of setting timber at the face devolves upon the miner himself.

Many a miner has lost his life through the neglect to perform this work promptly. Familiarity with the dangers of mining does not tend to make the miner a competent judge as to whether the setting of a few posts is an immediate necessity or whether it may not be delayed until he has loaded out the coal of the night before. It is human nature to postpone dead work, or work that brings no apparent remuneration, until an idle time, or at least to give preference to work that counts. The "sticking up of a post" is a matter of so little moment to the busy miner that is in general regarded by him as something that can be done at any time. A few careless raps with the end of his drill upon the rock above him and he goes to work with little thought of the actual danger that threatens. In nine cases out of ten a stone must give a very hollow sound to cause the miner to work for even a few moments and set a few posts that would render his place safe beyond question. — Mines and Minerals of Seranton, Pa., for March.

Railroad Man's Prayer.

An old railroad man, having been converted, was asked to lead in prayer. The following was the response: "O Lord, now that I have flagged these, lift up my feet from the rough road of life and plant them safely on the deck of the train of salvation. Let me use the safety lamp known as prudence, make all the couplings in the train with the strong link of thy love and let my hand lamp be the Bible, and, heavenly father, keep all switches closed that lead off the sidings, especially those with a blind end. O Lord, if it be thy pleasure, have over somephore block along the line show the white line of hope that I may make the run of life without stopping. And, Lord, give us the Ten Commandments for a schedule, and when I have finished the run on schedule time and pulled into the great dark station of death may thou, the Superintendent of the universe, say, 'Well done, thou good and faithful servant; come and sign the pay roll and receive your check for eternal happiness.' — Railroad Gazette.

A Man of Strong Individuality.

The office of Vice-President of the United States, vacant since the death of Garrett A. Hobart, is again filled and by a picturesque and energetic character. It has been many years since a man of such national fame as Theodore Roosevelt possesses has held this position. Vice-Presidents in recent years have generally been chosen as a matter of political expediency rather than for personal qualifications. Such has not been the case with Mr. Roosevelt, however, for none can question his sound sense and excellent executive ability. It is safe to say that the slow moving and deliberate body of Senators will have small opportunity to dilute or delay proceedings with the hero of San Juan at the helm. Things must move when "Teddy" is around. — Painesville (O.) "Telegraph."

Olney News.

There has been several deaths in our village recently.
Jim Davis, a simple-minded and homeless bachelor, died the 14th inst., and was buried at Purdytown.
Shadrach McGregor, an old and respected citizen of near here, died Saturday night and was buried at the McGregor graveyard Monday.
He was one of the best known and most beloved men of the county and his wife and seven children survive him.
Spring is undoubtedly here—the farmers are plowing and the boys are fishing.

Gorman Syrup is the special prescription of Dr. A. Roscher, a celebrated German Physician, and is acknowledged to be one of the most fortunate discoveries in medicine. It quickly cures Coughs, Colds and Lung troubles of the severest nature, removing, as it does, the cause of the ailment and leaving the parts in a strong and healthy condition. It is not an experimental medicine, but has stood the test of years, giving satisfaction in every case, which its rapidly increasing sale every season confirms. Two million bottles sold annually. Roscher's German Syrup was introduced in the United States in 1882 and is now sold in every town and village in the civilized world. Three doses will relieve any ordinary cough. Price 25 cents. — Dr. Roscher's Price Album.

BRIDE FOR KAISER'S SON.

Countess Thessa Selecting a Wife For Frederick William.

As a result of the visit of the Kaiser and his eldest son to England during the ceremonies attendant on the death and obsequies of Queen Victoria countess Thessa on the other side of the Atlantic are among counting the names of the young crown prince with those of various princesses. To be sure, the young man is somewhat young to wed, being only 19, but royal marriages are CROWN PRINCE FREDERICK WILLIAM. Not arranged like the ordinary kind. In most cases princes and princesses wed to suit the convenience of state rather than from the promptings of love.

Prince Frederick William of Prussia reached his majority last year, 18 being the accepted age for members of the Prussian royal family. He has made a good impression on the people of his own and other lands by his sober earnestness and thoughtfulness. It seems that he thoroughly realizes the responsibilities of his position and the burden of greatness that rests on him as the heir to a great empire.

A number of amusing stories are told of Frederick William's sense of importance during his younger days. Emperor or William is said to have found him one day administering a sound beating to his next younger brother, Prince Eitel, because the latter would not recognize his superiority as crown prince. It is further said that the Kaiser took the same method of impressing on his son and later the inferiority of the crown prince to the actual success of the throne.

The princesses with whom Frederick William's name is most frequently coupled are Princess Margaret Victoria and Princess Victoria Patricia of Connaught, daughters of Queen Victoria's youngest son, the Duke of Connaught. They are first cousins of the German crown prince and are, respectively, 19 and 15 years of age. Princess Margaret of Connaught, five months older than her reputed future fiancée, is a very charming, pretty and popular girl. The match would be well liked in Germany, for the Duchess of Connaught is the daughter of Prince Frederick Charles, the popular "Red Prince," second cousin of the Kaiser.

Shortly after the death at the hand of an anarchist of Elizabeth, empress of Austria, in 1888 the story was current that Emperor Francis Joseph would marry morganatically Frau Catherine Schraut, an actress. ### CHILD BURNED TO DEATH.

Little Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Noland, of Barnsley.

The little three-year-old daughter of John Noland, of Barnsley, was so burned Saturday morning near their home that she died about 8 o'clock the same evening. The funeral Sunday afternoon was attended by a large number of friends. The little body was interred at the Earlinton cemetery.

The accident occurred at a burning stump some distance from the house which had served to warm some carpenter who had been at work on a new house. The children were running around the stump playing and the little girl's dress caught fire. Her brother screamed and the mother ran to the scene, having to go across lots and through two gates. When she reached the little one nearly all the clothing was burned off the little body. Mrs. Noland received a severe burn on one hand in picking up the suffering child. The little girl was put under the influence of opiates and everything possible done to alleviate suffering, but from the first the case was hopeless.

SERVICE MEDALS

Being Distributed to Employees of the Illinois Central.

In commemoration of the Fiftieth Anniversary of the incorporation of the Illinois Central Railroad Company, through the act of the State of Illinois, approved February 10, 1851, upon recommendation of Mr. Stuyvesant Fish, President, the Board of Directors decided in January last that the Company would give as a souvenir to every person in the employ of the Company during the month of February, 1901, who shall have served continuously for one year or more, a bronze medal, bearing the trade mark of the Company and on the reverse side the name of the employe and the number of full years in which he shall have served the Company.

The medals have been prepared by Messrs. Tiffany & Co., of New York, and are of simple but elegant design, worked out in sharp lines of relief. One side is an adaptation of the company's trade mark, bearing the familiar legend "Central Mississippi Valley Route" in a diamond, with "Illinois Central R. R. Co., Chartered February 10, 1851" in the encompassing circle, underlying the two being radial bars. On the reverse, following the rim in relief letters is "Service Souvenir, Fiftieth Anniversary, 1851-1901" surrounding an inner inscription which reads, "I, C. R. R. Co. to—after—years continuous service" the individual name and years of service being inscribed on the medal of each person receiving one. A marked feature of this distribution is the fact that precisely the same bronze medal is given to everyone who has been continuously in the employ of the Company. No distinction whatever is made between the highest and the lowest; the services of those who labor with their hands, and those of the chief executive officers and board of directors being recognized in precisely the same way. The medals are being delivered in installments, and have already been circulated on some sections of the road.

THOROUGH SUCCESS.

The "Conundrum Supper" Praised on All Sides—The Ladies Made It So.

Among all such entertainments given in the past in Earlinton the "Conundrum Supper" and "Banquet Fine Art Gallery" given by the ladies in the lodge rooms of the New Masonic Temple Friday night, takes first rank.

As the ladies do these things always heartily and surpassing well, and as perhaps more were interested and contributed of their time and skill than ever before, the result could not be in doubt.

And then there was the place! The new building and the new lodge rooms, which are soon to be occupied by the various benevolent and fraternal orders, all with large membership.

The "Appetites" were keen for the tempting dishes skillfully prepared by the ladies of Earlinton—the best cooks in Kentucky, the "ladies" were brightened up for the occasion, extracting a great deal of amusing diversion out of the mysterious menu and the wonderful art gallery; and the "pocket-books" were not left at home.

Result: a well pleased host of laughing patrons and a satisfied and gratified, though weary entertainment committee.

It was a bad night, but that proved a redeeming feature that prevented perhaps an almost impossible crush. As it was a large number of ladies and gentlemen were comfortably entertained and the ladies and the waitresses and the entertainment committee were exhausted about the same time—but not until all were served and the pleasant evening was at a close. The ladies were prophets on the question of needed refreshments and almost exactly measured the capacity and wants of the merry party.

Among the guests from out of town were Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Holman, Mr. C. C. Givens, and Mrs. May Edmondson, of Madisonville, Mr. Frank Nixson, of Evansville, Col. E. G. Seebree, of Henderson, Mrs. J. H. Anderson, of Hopkinsville, Miss Ramsey, of Sobro, Misses Everett and Brown of Hanson, and Miss Kate Thomson, of Indian Territory.

Misses Paula Richards and Bessie Waller, of Hopkinsville, assisted in making the entertainment the success it was.

Col. Seebree went through the menu twice with hearty good will, laughed at in the "Art Gallery," patronized the candy table and bought a portion of "Scripture Cake"—then made the doorkeeper tell him who all the pretty girls were.

Long made the ice cream and Tins and the cake. Of course these items were chosen.

Misses Mary Louise Norwood, Bessie Waller and Sue Burr presided over the empy and cake tables. The last bit they had was eagerly bought and Mrs. C. H. McGary's "Scripture Cake" was a favorite and a novelty.

Miss Eula Richards expounded the mysteries of the "Art Gallery," while John Twyman played the immortal part of speaker.

Mr. W. A. Fraser, author of Mooswa and Others, has just written for early publication in The Saturday Evening Post a short, stirring serial, entitled The Outcasts.

The Outcasts are an old buffalo and a wolf-dog, and the greater part of the story is about the strange comradeship and striking adventures of these companions, and their pilgrimage, in company, to the distant plains of deep grass, of which the wolf-dog lives.

There are action and strength of word and phrase in the story, and the touch of the soil and the music and charm and somberness of the forest. The rush of the frizzled buffalo herd to death is told with splendid dramatic power. The plan of the book is a unique conception, and it is worked out on novel and entertaining lines.

FINE OUTING.

Planned for Kentucky Editors Early In July.

Meet at Madisonville and Then Go for a Tour of Colorado.

A meeting of the Executive Committee of the Kentucky Press Association was held Monday afternoon at the Elks' Home in Louisville, for the purpose of transacting various business, among the most important of which was to determine a place for the annual meeting, the direction of the annual jaunt and to arrange for a program for each. It is the purpose of the committee to make the 1901 meeting one of the most memorable and enjoyable in the history of the Association.

The annual outing will be led on a trip to the West in chartered Pullmans, including visits to Denver, Pueblo, the Royal Gorge, Manitou, Colorado Springs and Pike's Peak, covering about twelve days' absence from the State. It is the intention, too, to make the assembling at Madisonville interesting in every respect. Messrs. T. G. Watkins, of the Courier-Journal, Louis Landrum and Paul M. Moore were given the work of arranging a literary program, which is hoped to be particularly attractive. Names of some of the best talent among newspaper men in Kentucky are already on the partially arranged program.

The President was asked to call upon all Kentucky editors to contribute toward the relief of Mr. Jno. D. Babbage, editor of the Breckenridge News, who recently suffered the entire loss of his plant by fire at Cloverport.

By unanimous vote the President was directed to petition the President of the United States in the name of the Association, asking the pardon of Mr. J. L. Ross, an honored member of the Association, who recently was convicted in the United States Court upon a technicality growing out of his service as postmaster at Paris, Ky.

The route selected for the outing is over the L. & N. from Madisonville to St. Louis; the Iron Mountain route to Pueblo, and the Denver & Rio Grande to Denver, returning by the same lines. Mr. R. T. G. Matthews, district passenger agent for the Iron Mountain route, whose headquarters are in Louisville, has the matter in charge and will personally conduct the tour. Conversation with some of the good people of Madisonville and some of Earlington discloses a spirit of warm and hospitable welcome toward the coming of the quill pushers of the Kentucky Press Association. There will be a cordial welcome and no mistake.

Chronicle.

1. Now it came to pass in those days when the McKinley ruled over that land, which is dark and exceedingly bloody, that many of those who dig caves within the bowels of the earth made a covenant with each other saying,

2. Go to, let us make for ourselves a name among the children of men, let us go away for ourselves, let us make for ourselves a name, for we are the chosen of the few crackers thrown in.

3. Do not all the various tribes and tongues from the East even unto the West depend upon coal for domestic and likewise for manufacturing purposes.

4. Now, if we will enter into a league with all who dig within the mines, then will we hold the ace and likewise the dice upon all mankind over the women and children.

5. For if so be that at any time things do not go in way that suiteth us, then will we order a strike and not a day blasted lung will we dig until our adversaries fall down at our feet and worship us.

6. Then will we order the operators exceedingly fast as Tony had the hen, ye even by the ying yang.

7. And it shall come to pass that when we take into ourselves some snuff, they must immediately sneeze and when we are minded to patch they will be constrained to execute a double shuffle.

8. And many beloved this doctrine which is a league with death and a covenant with hell, and apostles were sent from the East unto the West to teach the great salvation which is the need unto a plate of hash being all things to all men.

9. Now there was living in those days in that city which is called Central, one James the Wood and he believed and was baptized and received the gift of tongues.

10. Moreover was he empowered to work miracles, see visions, interpret dreams and was exceedingly familiar with spirits.

11. Furthermore this James had a tongue like a ready writer and from constant practice he was enabled to deal unto Ananias both cards and spades in great abundance and then defeat both Ananias and Sapphira in an even contest.

12. Now when Jim had preached the doctrine unto all the inhabitants of that region round about Central City he began to yearn for other worlds to conquer.

13. And he said, "I will arise and go unto the land of Hopkins, and will preach and prophecy unto the people saying, 'Look unto me all ye Jews, Gentiles and country jakes, and be saved from your sin, for I am the great plastician, the high cooalorum, ye, verily the great k'l'min."

14. "And as Moses lifted up the serpent in the wilderness, even so must I whoop up the doctrine of the United Mine Workers, and whose ever is deceived thereby is not wise, but he that believeth not, shall be damned."

15. And it came to pass that James journeyed unto Madisonville, that city where the Sanehedrin of Hopkins County is wont to meet, and he covenanted with the Hustler for two upper apartments paying therefor certain pieces of silver having Caesar's superscription thereon.

16. And he called unto him one Campbell and one Chappell, both men of Ephraim, who had believed and been baptized, for this doctrine is preached unto the Jew and the Gentile, ye unto every kindred tribe and tongue.

17. Now when they had fasted and prayed, he laid hands upon the said sons of Issa and there fell scales from their eyes and they received a gift of half-headed prophecy.

18. And he said unto them, "Rejoice and be exceeding glad for your names shall be great among the children of men who have hitherto straitened a snail but hereafter they shall not only swallow a Campbell, but a Chappell also."

19. "Take no longer thought wherewith ye shall be clothed or fed for ye shall be clad in finest lambs wool and the U. M. W. will shower great quantities of daily bread upon you, having butter abounding upon both sides of the same."

20. "Ye shall drink large quantities of that which entangleth the feet even as I drink and ye shall smoke finer cigars than old J. B. smokeeth and all corporations shall ye ease, but the St. Bernard shall ye give a greater damnation."

21. "And ye shall sit upon iron ore, one upon my right and the other upon my left, judging old J. B.'s niggers and the seats will I make ye footstool."

22. And they laid hands upon yet other apostles and gave unto them power to handle bad spirits and sent them forth to teach the new gospel throughout the length and breadth of the land of Hopkins.

23. Now it came to pass that certain of those apostles took scrip and staves and a few bottles of fang-fang and journeyed over to convert those who are scabby at Earlington.

24. And they had leathern girdles about their loins and a great power, which reviveth, was stuck therein, causing all men to think that they had come bearing a sword rather than a gospel of peace.

25. Now when the Barnetts, who are called the "Buttons," beheld those men of war, he laid hold on them suddenly saying, "Put up thou the 'actual seeds,' or give unto me quickly a bond for thine appearance before the judges of Earlington, for I will arrest thee into prison, ye having sinned a sin which hath no forgiveness."

26. Now it came to pass that one made his sane good and desired at a sane date to appear before a judge with Madisonville, but the other desired that he might commune by telephone with his brethren at Madisonville.

27. Then the "Buttons" tooketh a chariot and placed the apostles therein, and several men of authority got within the chariot and journeyed over unto Madisonville with the apostles and the "Buttons."

28. Now when they reached the city it was even hild and every man was gone into his own home. So none appeared to make bond for the apostles, and the "Buttons' countenance was fallen."

29. And he prayed unto the "Buttons," saying, "Let us go up in the council chamber of my people where the wise men, the magicians, the seers, the astrologers, the huss docters and those familiar with spirits are wont to meet, that bond may be given me."

30. But the "Buttons" pulled into the apostles, "Except thou say something resembling veridiction in the spirit, I will not say that we will that they will call on us and speak unto us rudely."

31. But the apostles were unto the Buttons with a saying, "By all the gods of the United Mine Workers, your treatment shall be whiter than snow, ye they would fall upon your neck and greet thee with a kiss," and the Buttons hearkened to the elders.

32. Now when they were come into the council chamber, there was none to greet them, but two men of Ethiopia, who extracted them to abide a short time for the return of the elders.

33. And it came to pass within a few minutes, that the elders returned and filled the house as sardines are packed within a box and when they beheld the apostles with the apostles' bonds, their waxed hot.

34. And they spoke rudely unto the Buttons, and that they were with him, and swore with an oath that he should not thrust the apostle into prison.

35. But the Buttons spoke defiantly, saying, "Get thee me bound as I desire, or by the great horn-spout, I will cast the apostle in prison quicker than a feather would be searched within Hades."

36. Forthwith did James the great King pin rush into his telephone and he spoke with the elders, who he held converse with one in Terre Haute, saying, "Nay, nay, need twenty-five hundred men unto me, one hundred and fifty will be a plenty."

37. Then did he pretend to talk unto one at Central City, saying, "The deputies are with I this room with an apostle in bonds and some of them appear as do those dogs which prey upon sheep."

38. Then the Buttons waxed hot and he said, "Make thou this and send it to me, I will cast the apostle into prison." And they said unto the Buttons, "He is thine; do as seemeth good unto thee."

39. And the Buttons returned unto Earlington the same night and delivered the apostle unto the judges and the judge would have cast him into prison.

40. But certain of his followers prayed the judge, saying, "We will ante up part of his fine and let thee keep his artillery until we can raise and wherewith to redeem the same."

41. Now it came to pass that the judge said, "Go and sin no more." And on the next day the apostles' friends came unto the judge and paid the uttermost farthing and received the apostles and the great plot was left reviveth.

42. And unto this day when an apostle would fall visit Earlington, he leaveth his artillery behind because of Buttons and the judges' scab.

A Good Cough Medicine for Children.

"I have no hesitancy in recommending Chamberlain's Cough Remedy," says F. P. Morris, a well known and popular baker, of Petersburg, Va. "We have given it to our children when troubled with cold coughs, also whooping cough, and it has always given perfect satisfaction. It is recommended to me by a druggist as the best cough medicine for children as it contained no opium or other harmful drugs. For sale at St. Bernard Druggists, Earlington; Ben T. Robinson, Mornings Gap; George King, St. Charles."

By a unanimous vote of the Henderson city council, the ordinance giving the Louisville and Nashville railroad company the right to construct new bridge approach, and build a new union depot at that place, was passed with but slight amendments. The meeting of the council was a public one, and the sentiment of the people was shown by hearty applause, upon passage of the ordinance.

Shortage of a California Postmistress was made up by her father, who sacrificed all to reimburse the Government and now goes to the postoffice.
